

bicester brightside

One of the (many) great things about organising Mixology, is that we get to purvey all manner of great people, projects and products. A perfect example of this is the recently short-listed South Central Ambulance Service project, where the NHS, with not an inconsiderable amount of assistance from Metro Design, has showcased cutting edge workspace design.

